

Dan Li, MD

Objectives:

1. Provide an overview of the following topics related to the responsible conduct of research: ethical considerations in research, responsibilities of the investigator, policies regarding human subjects, collaborative research, authorship and other publication issues, and institutional review board functions