

Bio:Allison Magnuson, DO

Allison Magnuson, DO is a dual trained medical oncologist and geriatrician from the University of Rochester. Dr. Magnuson's research interests include health outcomes in older patients with cancer, specifically improving outcomes using geriatric assessment-based recommendations. She is also interested in exploring factors that are influential to patients and providers when making treatment decisions for older patients with cancer. Dr. Magnuson's clinical practice focuses on caring for older adults with breast cancer.