Tribute to Dr. Arti Hurria

"Historically, research left out people who were older and more experienced, which doesn't make much sense. We're changing that. Older people have much to teach us."—
Arti Hurria, MD, FASCO

"Arti Hurria was so inclusive of all members of the team. She felt everyone had something to give: physician, nurse, therapist, social worker, pharmacist, patient, family, patient advocates. And no one member was more important than the other, we were a team. You rarely heard her use the word "I", she always said "we"."

Arti Hurria, M.D.
George Tsai Family Chair in Geriatric Oncology
Director, Center on Cancer and Aging
Co-Lead, Cancer Control and Population Sciences Program
Vice Provost of Clinical Faculty
Professor, Department of Medical Oncology & Therapeutics Research
